BRITISH SOCIETY OF SOIL SCIENCE

Grant Funding

Lucy Greenfield received an Early Career Conference Grant

Dr Marie Arnaud was awarded a David S Jenkinson Fellowship Grant

Santosh Birman received an Early Career Conference Grant

Visit us at: www.soils.org/grants for guidelines and application forms

The British Society of Soil Science is dedicated to promoting the study and profession of Soil Science.

In order to achieve these goals, we offer several funding opportunities to support these aims:

BRITISH SOCIETY OF SOIL SCIENCE

Early Career Conference Grant Available to BSSS Early Career members to help fund attendance at conferences applicable to their research field. Value: up to £500

Innovation Grant Suitable for teachers of Primary, Secondary and Higher Education Institutions to encourage development of innovative ways of incorporating soil science into lessons. Value: up to £500

Field Equipment Grant Suitable for Primary, Secondary and Tertiary Institutions to purchase field equipment to aid in the instruction and understanding of soil science. Value: up to £1,000

Public Engagement Grant Available to BSSS members to undertake public engagement activities communicating soil to diverse audiences. Value: up to £250

David S Jenkinson Fellowship Grant This fellowship is available to support early career postdoctoral scientists from the UK to travel and collaborate with an overseas organisation. Suitable for Society Members who are UK residents and employed. Value: up to £5,000 awarded annually

Brian Chambers Soils Fund Career development funding to help early career scientists and practitioners develop skills and knowledge needed to manage soils effectively in modern farming systems, essential for the future sustainability of agriculture. Value: based on application (normally between £250 – £2,500)

Visit us at: www.soils.org/grants for guidelines and application forms